DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-22 are pending.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-5 and 7-9, drawn to an in vivo method of regulating expression of a tet operator-linked gene in a cell of a subject, classified in class 514, subclass 44.
- II. Claims 1, 6 and 10-17, drawn to an ex vivo method of regulating expression of a tet operator-linked gene in a cell of subject, classified in class 424, subclass 93.1.
- III. Claims 18-22, drawn to a fusion protein that activates transcription comprising a tet repressor operatively linked to a polypeptide which activates transcription in eukaryotic cells, classified in class 424, subclass 192.1.

3. The embodiments recited in claims and 6 are common to the inventions of the groups I-III. Should any of these groups be elected, claims 1 and 6 would be examined to the extent they read on the elected invention.

4. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Although there are no provisions under the section for "Relationship of Inventions" in MPEP 806.05 for inventive groups that are directed to different methods, restriction is deemed to be proper because these methods appear to constitute patentably distinct inventions for the following reasons:

In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to methods that have distinct steps and the steps and reagents for practicing one method are not used for practicing the other method. For example, the method of group I uses an in vitro cell culture and the nucleic acid encoding the tetracycline-controllable transactivator is introduced in the cells in vitro in cell culture. On the other hand, the method of group II requires introduction of the nucleic acid encoding the tetracycline-controllable transactivator to a subject. Accordingly, all the reagents used in the method of group II are not necessarily used in the method of group I and vice versa. Furthermore, the cell produced in the method of group II will have multiple utilities, such as in producing a protein in vitro in addition to the method group II.

Invention of the group III is not related to the inventions of the groups I and II. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case, the method of groups I and II require a nucleic acid whereas the product of the method of group III is a fusion protein. The characteristics and utilities of a protein and a nucleic acid are separate and distinct.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, have acquired a separate status in the art shown by their different classification and their recognized divergent subject matter, and because each invention requires a separate, non-coextensive search, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

When amending claims, applicants are advised to submit a clean version of each amended claim (without underlining and bracketing) according to § 1.121(c). For instructions, Applicants are referred to <http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/dcom/olia/aipa/index.htm>.
